

Employment Opportunity: Master Level Cabinet Maker

This position requires mastery-level knowledge in many areas of the production process utilizing machinery, tools, and assembly techniques, as well as high level of competency for custom work without supervision and the ability to lead a team in the technical aspects of the work.

Necessary skills and knowledge include the ability to keep accurate records, maintain organization, read blueprints, drawings and specifications, and to create cut lists. Understanding how to plan the methods and operations for creating parts and assembling necessary components for completed projects is essential.

A qualified candidate will be able to generate creative solutions, translate concepts into products, apply feedback to modify designs and demonstrate attention to detail, as well as effectively lead in a team environment. An extensive hardwood, veneer and panel knowledge is an underlying qualification. Pre-Employment drug testing will be required.
